Margaret Nance Has Student Opinion Poll

A student opinion poll was conducted in Margaret Nance dormitory Wednesday, April 4.

The issue and results are as follows:

1. Should 18 year olds be drafted? The majority voted against it.
2. Should women be drafted in case of an all-out war? The largest number of the students said "yes."
3. Should artist and lecture courses be compulsory? The majority said "no."
4. Would you attend more Winthrop dances if better bands were engaged even if it meant a rise in the cost of tickets? More of the students voted "yes."

Baptists Elect New Officers

Lovely Jo Moore, rising senior elementary education major from Cowpens, will be president of the Baptist Student union in 1951-1952.

Other officers will be Frances Smith, chairman vice-president; Pat White, devotional vice-president, and Jacquelyn Hembree, secretary-treasurer.

FSSF Drive Nets $1000

Approximately $1,600 was raised in the Foreign Student Scholarship Fund drive last week, according to Betty Ann Zyfer, chairman of the campaign. This amount will enable the Winthrop Christian association to bring at least two foreign students to the Campus next year.

Melissa Bourne was crowned "Miss Winthrop" in assembly Tuesday, with Peggy Baskin, Kitty Free, Roxanna Baker, Bo-Quyn Jung, Betty Jewel Logan, and Marilee Meares as her attendants. The "Miss Winthrop" contest was part of the FSSF drive.

Other phases of the campaign were the movie at the Pkx, individual solicitation, and voluntary student contribution through the dining hall. Roddey hall sponsored a "Café Hop" to raise money.

New Foreign Student Likes Friendliness Of Winthrop Students; Prefers American Professors To Those Of Greece

By ANN JOYE ALLEN

"Put yourself in my place if you would see an American in a foreign country," said Nomiki Tsoukala of Athens, Greece, when asked how it felt to be able to talk with Greek girls. Since there are four Greek girls at Winthrop, Nomiki has again been able to speak in her native tongue.

Nomiki arrived in Rock Hill from Washington, D. C., March 27 at 8 a.m. She got off the train with her arms full of packages. She heard someone say, "I will help you." Dr. Sarah Graywell, head of the home economics department, met Nomiki.

She remarked, "Immediately I felt the warmth of the College. All the girls are friendly." Southern hospitality on the campus is quite different to the kind of greeting a person would receive on the campus of a Greek university. Our newly arrived foreign student explained that by saying there are so many more students at their educational institutions in Greece. Each person has his own acquaintances, and the rest are just students.

Nomiki is a special student in nutrition and public health. She is sponsored by the Institute of International Education, the American Home Economics association, and the ECA.

Before coming to Winthrop, Nomiki was employed by the ECA in the field of nutrition. She attended the Harkness Academy in Athens. This school specializes in training teachers for home economics.

In talking about the differences in the two education systems, Nomiki said that a student works at his own rate of speed. He takes

Robison Is Speaker At Vespers Sunday

The Reverend John W. Robison, pastor of the Woodland Methodist church in Rock Hill, will be the speaker at Vespers Sunday night at 8:45 in Johnson hall. Betty Ann Felder and Opal Powers will give the devotional, and Joyce Lane will be organist.

I wonder what new and wonderful thing will happen today.

Casualty

By BARRIE JEAN WINGARD

The biggest news this week is the Spring formal scheduled for tomorrow night. I know everybody is looking forward to it. It is the last SGA dance. The Junior-senior will be the last dance of the year on May 5.

THE TATTLER

urges all organizations which have not paid for their space in the yearbook to do so as soon as is possible. Everyone is wondering how much longer it will be before the books roll off the press. The bills must be paid first! Thanks to Patsy Stevenson and her entire staff who made this 1951 annual possible.

CONGRATULATIONS

to Melissa Bourne, sophomore of Georgetown, for being chosen Miss Winthrop of 1951. Thanks to all students, faculty, and staff, who helped in the F.S.R. drive, and who contributed to this fund.

WE ARE

in the midst of the three-day South Carolina state high school music festival. Welcome to all students who are here. About 4,500 were expected to attend.

are enjoying the additional nights out, and the Saturday night time extension to 11:30 is appreciated by all. Senate, Dr. Sims, all who had a hand in it, we thank you.

THE UNIFORMS

for next year were viewed by the students in assembly Tuesday. What will be the styles for next year? We can be sure of one thing—they will be navy blue and white.

Outside These Gates

By MARY McLANE

The Winthrop college touring choir, under the direction of Miss Katherine Pfohl, will present programs of secular and sacred music in towns throughout the state when it begins its tour next week. The choir will leave Rock Hill April 15 to visit Orangeburg, Walterboro, Beaufort, Barnwell, Santeeburg, Greenville, and many other towns. One of the choir's feature attractions is the first act of the opera "Martha" by Mildred Warren, Barbara Wilcox, and Nancy Mackie sing the leading roles. Members of the choir who have studied modern music will interpret some of the secular numbers.

The Dock Street theater of Charleston will present "The Taming of the Shrew" April 28 in the Winthrop college auditorium. Students who saw the Shakespearean scenes at this well known group presented at Winthrop two years ago know to expect top notch entertainment.

Many students attended and enjoyed the production of "Romeo and Juliet" by the Play-Liters, dramatics group of Chapel Hill. This group, which is on tour, made its first appearance for this season in Chester. Winthrop students who saw the play agree that it was excellent in every way. A lot of credit goes to Miss Anne Seiver for her interest in getting students to Chester.

If you haven't seen a Rock Hill Little Theatre play yet, by all means make plans to do so next year. From all reports, this organization's production of "Harvey" last week was superb.

The high school sound clinic has certainly made the campus buzz with people and excitement. Isn't it grand that Winthrop sponsors such a worthwhile event?

While we are mentioning musical happenings, don't forget that here at Winthrop you have an excellent opportunity to hear the very best in artist records. Those of us who have been here four years realize that we will miss them greatly next year. We can look back over the past and remember with pleasure the performances of great singers, musicians, dancers, and actors. Seeing and hearing them at such little cost is a privilege and an opportunity that most people do not have.

Exams for Deferment

Draft deferment may now be obtained by scoring 70 on the aptitude tests to be given over the nation May 26, June 16, and June 30. Selective Service officials have announced. The tests will be given by the Educational Testing service of Princeton, N. J., and will be designed to test:

1. Ability to read and comprehend materials college men must study.
2. Ability to deal with words.
3. Interpretation of data in charts, graphs, tables, and diagrams with multiple choices on conclusions.
4. Arithmetical reasoning which will require no advanced mathematical knowledge.

The questions will cover natural and social sciences and the humanities.

There are many good reasons for the government's plan to exempt from the draft college students of exceptional intelligence. At the same time there is at least one danger in the plan, and that is the effect that it may have on the morale of the armed forces.

In order to keep that morale high, the country and the members of the armed services themselves must believe that the American fighting men are the best this country can offer—the cream of the crop.

It will be extremely difficult to maintain that belief in the face of the knowledge that the smartest young men are deferred from military service.

Until this time the uniform of a soldier, sailor, marine, or airman—volunteer or draftee—signified literacy, good physical condition, and patriotism.

That remains the case, but the real cream of the crop in the future will not be in uniform. They will be wearing civilian clothes at the college. The reaction, when one sees a man in uniform, may be that he wasn't smart enough to get out of the draft.

Of course, we repeat, there are many good reasons why young men of exceptional intelligence should be allowed to stay in school. The scientists will be indispensable in preparation for World War III. Doubtless, the young scientists will be even more valuable than will be the soldiers.

But almost equally important is the morale. The uniform of the military man of the United States should be a mark of pride and distinction, not something a fellow gets for failing an exam. L.S.

Revising the Catalog

While the College catalog is being revised concerning the new academic requirements, we should like to recommend other changes for the benefit of puzzled new students.

First: on page 50 of the 1950-1951 catalog, new students are told to bring "six white table napkins—eighteen inches square." And every year freshmen come off to Winthrop and dutifully unpack six white table napkins. This is an absurd inconvenience for the dining hall provides paper napkins at every meal. Why not delete this bothersome detail from the new catalog?

Another matter: the College uniform requirements are not stated clearly enough in the catalog; the section on "Dress Standards" on pages 50-51 is too brief and vague. The result is confusion that could be avoided by a more specific statement. We believe that the section should be amended to read:

The College uniform colors (navy blue and white) must be worn as required on all occasions.

The requirement of wearing navy blue and white was initiated for the benefit of the student and to promote the spirit of democracy on the Winthrop college campus. In recent years the students have voted their approval of the custom because it is convenient, economical, and democratic. The student body selects uniforms by popular vote, and a committee of students enforces regulations.

On the first Sunday of the College year, every Winthrop college student goes to church in "The Blue Line," so every student is required to have a navy blue dress and navy or black accessories for this occasion... (etc. to end of section).

Added to the section should be this explanation:

Polka dots, stripes, checks, and braid trimming are out of uniform. Solid navy or white is required.

For class, students may wear colored shoes, socks, sweaters, and collars. Colored raincoats may be worn on rainy days.

These suggestions for the improvement and clarification of the College catalog are offered to whoever is responsible for getting out the 1951-1952 catalog. D.M.

JEST IN PASSING - - - By Mary Jane Howard

Several years ago, one of my predecessors voiced a sad tale in this column: "When I was young and frank and free, I wondered what life held for me."

Now I know it held my fate—Navy blue and parlor dates. Today I wish to add these lines: Now the old rules are passed. Even they have passed away. "Charlotte" and "11:30" do sound great. But where in heck to get a date!!

GROWING UP AT COLLEGE or THAT CLASS

Sophomore: Running to class.
Junior: Eating breakfast.
Senior: Turning off alarm clock.

The above reminds me of what a member of the art faculty said to Dale Davis on one of the occasions when she arrived in his class 15 minutes after the bell had rung. "Ah! The late Miss Davis, I presume."

Along the same line of thought, more or less, the following is dedicated to members of the judicial board.

"Sleep in when if you don't get enough of the night before you're half a."

THOUGHTS - PERTAINING TO THE SPRING FORMAL

I wish I were a kangaroo
Despite my funny stances.
So I'd have a place to put the things
My girl hands me at dances.

Lives there a man who is so abnormal
He can't be stirred by a strapless formal—

A dress.
A date.
Purchases
Up late.
A class.
A quizz.
No pants.
Gee whizz!

SOCIAL WHIRL

MARY LUCAS, Society Editor
BETSY ROSS, Assistant Society Editor

From a look at the calendar, this campus is going to be buzzing with guests from now till the end of school. Last week the librarians came, m. a. and went. Wednesday marked the beginning of the annual music festival which takes place at Winthrop each year. And of course there will be many more. I want to take this blank space to throw in a bunch of congratulations to Melissa Bourne for being elected Miss Winthrop. O'course proud of you Lisa.

I just can't pass up a chance to say that many, many Winnies traveled the road to Clemson for the Military ball last weekend.

ITS THOSE SENIORS AGAIN !!!

Who just can't rise taking these weekends. Golly! How they do run around. Off to home went Jane Rogers and Polly Robertson of Spartanburg, Martha Vaughan of Columbia, Anita Dingle of Florence, Joyce Price of Mullins, and Marilee Moore of Ware Shoals.

THE NOT SO MIGHTY !!!

or rather, the underclassmen who journeyed around and about over the weekend were Lillian Jones who went home to Chesnee, Betty Logan of Graham N. C., Mary Ruth Williams of McBee, Sarah Haigh of Beaufort, Pat Horton of Greenwood, Sara Bell of Williamston, Peggy Green of Aiken, Carolyn Osborne of Summerville and Margaret Davis of Brevard, N. C. Also Elaine McMaister of Columbia, Mary Wallace of York, Jacquelyn Lancaster of Jonesville, Jeanna Lytle and Shirley Fry of Spartanburg, Annette Hembree of Anderson, Shirley McCraw of Gaffney and Ann Way of Greenville.

MILITARY BALL . . .

Clemson takes top honors this week for sponsoring the famed Military ball, and for showing our girls such a wonderful time. Among those who returned with Ocos and Ahs Sunday night were Jane Dentaler, Mecon Harshaw, Martha Lucas, Johnny Boggs, Frances Farabola, Clio Nelson, Elizabeth Clayton, Jean Thum, Carolyn Tarant, Ann Harris, and Ellen Bryant.

SPRING TIME. WEDDING TIME . . .

The spring bug has really hit Winthrop's campus, and with it came many diamonds, weddings and the like. Betta Johnson became engaged to Bryan Clifton of Rock Hill and Clemson over the holidays, and also Martha Justice was married to Roy Pousad at the same time. Rachel Ford has returned to Winthrop after a honeymoon in Florida with her bridegroom who has left for over seas. Norma White, Shirley Green, and Shirley Lundy attended the wedding of a friend in Sumter over the weekend. Flonda Agnew received a pin from Joe Finley at a fraternity dance at Carolina two weeks ago. Ann Boser was given a ring by Alben Bashore of Columbia.

JUST VISITING . . .

Irene Dentaler went home with Doris Campbell to Chester for the weekend. Ann Davis traveled to New York for a visit. Long way, eh Ann? Dot Ramsey visited Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Mulvaney in Augusta while Ann McCraw spent the weekend with Mabel Wannamaker in Orangeburg. Dot Kortjohn went to Spartanburg to see Mrs. V. V. Earle. Seen on Campus over the weekend were quite a few guests. Florence Duke visited Marlon Duke (sister), Elly Boser of Columbia was seen on Campus with her sister, Boser. Frances Han had as her guest Polly DeWitt of Darlington. Mrs. E. C. Rice visited Louise, and Pat Drennon of Piedmont visited Mary Lou Hiett.

A bit of faculty news. Mrs. Kate Glenn Hardin, Mrs. Ethel Meyers, and Miss Peggy Lusk attended the National Association of Deans of Women Convention in Chicago during Easter.

Senior Order Entertained At Elks Club

Members of Senior Order were entertained by Bobbie Jean Owen Friday afternoon, April 6, at 8:30 at the Elks club.

As favors, corsages with corsage-pins which were replicas of the Senior Order pins were presented to the guests by Bobbie Jean.

The menu consisted of creamed chicken, lima beans, rice, gravy, salad, chocolate pie, rolls and butter, and a choice of coffee or tea.

W.C.A. Sponsors Spaghetti Supper

"The Gypsy Tavern" will be open for a spaghetti supper Saturday night from 5:00 to 7:30 on the second floor of Johnson hall. The supper is sponsored by the Winthrop Christian association.

Italian spaghetti, salad, rolls and butter, and coffee will be served in a true gypsy atmosphere, while gypsy violinists play by candlelight. The mysterious Madame Beata Rosita Yonita will tell fortunes.

Students may bring their dates, and members of the faculty staff are invited to come.

Tickets will be fifty cents each and will be sold this week until tomorrow noon. No tickets will be sold at the Tavern door.

Merilyn Huggins, vice-president of the W.C.A., is in charge of the supper.

Craven To Speak At Third Clinic

Third in the series of Personality clinics will be Tuesday afternoon, April 17, at 4:30 in Johnson hall. Immediately preceding the clinic there will be an informal tea beginning at 4:15.

The clinic is being sponsored by the Social Standards council, the membership of which is composed of the chairmen of S.G.A. committees, social chairman of residence halls, and Jane Bell, president of S.G.A.

Miss Ruth Craven, home management specialist of the Home Demonstration department is to be the guest speaker, and will give suggestions for decorating rooms at college and at home.

Rachel Stagner is in charge of the tea and Jane Bell is in charge of the program.

Tables Are Turned; Students Teaching Adults; Scout Leaders Receive Instruction

By SHIRLEY GREEN

For a change, Winthrop students are teaching the adults. It's happening in the physical education department, of course, and the members of the camp leadership class are the teachers. The pupils are the troop leaders of the Girl Scouts in Rock Hill.

Camp craft is being taught in this special class, which has been divided into three sessions. The first two sessions were conducted April 3 and April 10. The final meeting will be Tuesday night in the gym.

Included in the course of instruction are knots, axmanship, knife-throwing, meteorology (weather), the bird-brains (the me, bedrolls, and cooking equipment).

The purpose of the course is to train the troop leaders so that they will be able to instruct the scouts in their troops in camp.

craft. The students are gaining experience which will be valuable to them in securing jobs in summer camps.

Taking part in the course are approximately 40 leaders of all ages. According to Miss Irene Kent, instructor of the camp leadership class, the leaders are very enthusiastic and interested in the course. The Girl Scouts will give credit to the leaders for attending these classes.

At the meeting Tuesday night the teachers will give the pupils a party. The Winthrop girls will make all the arrangements for it.

Miss Kent stated that the camp leadership class deserves a lot of credit for the fine job which they are doing. She feels that the girls are performing a community service.

Congratulations, girls, for the good work!

Miss Irene Kent Conducts Course

Miss Irene Kent, accompanied by five Winthrop students, will leave for Camp Burnt Glen in Sumter county this afternoon. At Burnt Glen she will conduct a leadership training course sponsored by the Palmetto Camping council, of which she is vice-president.

The students attending the workshop are Ann Harrison, Frances Edens, Betsy Kurewood, Frieda Sawyer, and Gay Kernell.

The will return to Winthrop Sunday afternoon.

Dance Concert Will Be Friday

The annual dance concert of the modern dance group will be next Friday, April 20, in the College auditorium at 8 o'clock. Admission will be 25 cents for students and children and 40 cents for adults.

—Ann Bryant, Jan Faddy, June Hinds, and Marilee Moore are choreographing the dances. The entire program is based on popular and classical music.

"Sunset Boulevard" Is Saturday Movie

Heralded as one of the greatest motion pictures ever to come out of Hollywood, Paramount's "Sunset Boulevard" will be the feature Saturday night at the College auditorium. William Holden, Gloria Swanson, Erich von Stroheim, and Nancy Olson head the cast of the film which was produced by Charles Brackett and directed by Billy Wilder.

A behind-the-scenes look at Hollywood, "Sunset Boulevard" is the story of a once-famous silent movie queen who lives in her past and dreams of a triumphant return to the screen.

For the role of the aging, one-time film queen who dreams vainly of a triumphant come-back, producer Charles Brackett chose Gloria Swanson. William Holden is seen as a young, disillusioned screen writer with whom she falls in love, while Erich von Stroheim plays her former director and devoted sweetheart. Nancy Olson is seen as a youthful studio story analyst.

Included in the supporting cast are Cecil B. DeMille, Buster Keaton, H. B. Warner, and Hedda Hopper, all of whom play themselves.

Fifty more plays till June third. This is for the benefit of the underclassmen. From listening to the list of all conversations, it is evident that the seniors have even the minutes counted. Don't blame 'em. The gym is buzzing, with a little more activity than usual, going on outdoors, due, no doubt, to the good weather of late. In fact it has been so good that pre-houseparty sun tans are already being acquired by those who have the leisure time to indulge. Dormitory roofs are beginning to look like Coney Island.

The Carolina Cup races in Camden Saturday claimed two Winthrop sports fans, Ross Young and Nancy Chapman. In this 19th renewal of this spectacle much excitement seems to have been present. A fine time was had by all who attended, from all reports.

FROM THE VISITORS

All the visitors on Campus prudently every weekend for various and sundry meetings, conventions, etc., produce many amusing incidents. One of these occurred in the gym lately. One high school boy, on observing the modern dance class, was heard to remark to one of his buddies: "I saw a whole pile of girls over there in the gym, dancing in their long underwear."

CONGRATULATIONS

To Ann Woodcock for being elected treasurer of the South Carolina Student Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation at the meeting at Coker last Friday.

WHEN ENGAGED!

Myra Aughtery, a '50 Winthrop graduate who served on the Athletic council last year, is engaged to Harry Jenkins from Gastonia. Myra is teaching in Gastonia this year.

IRONY

This little paragraph is dedicated to all those who have been and are now members of Miss Post's country dance class. A member of the student activities class came in the other day and requested one hour course in square dancing. Enough said.

PREVIEW

Of this year's modern dance concert indicate that it is going to be one of the best yet. One of the biggest attractions is going to be the varied accompaniment. These will include voice, horn, piano, orchestra, drums, and piano. Many varied numbers will also be presented, including a repeat performance of some of the numbers presented in the Christmas program.

POME

This was lifted from Penn Press for use last week, but I hope it was, we'll try again.

Little Alice, in golf attire,
Hit a golf ball over the wire.
Was heard to remark, as she started her trek,
Next year, I'm teaching another course, by heck!

P.S. No use mentioning the cause of this little ditty.

WORTHY OF NOTE

See the posters on safety made by the safety class. These are exhibited on the bulletin board in the gym. They are very original, and carry many good thoughts.

Lucas, Collins

To Edit Senior 'TJ' Do Lucas, a senior from Dillon, has been chosen by the senior class to edit the senior edition of The Johnsonian. This publication will be an event of Senior week.

Other members of the staff elected at a class meeting Tuesday night are Helen Collins, managing editor; and Sophia Beles, business manager.

School Press Trophies

This array of awards will be presented to outstanding publications and individuals at the 15th annual banquet of the South Carolina Scholastic Press Association at Newberry April 20. Looking on are, left to right, Nancy Kendall of Kingsport, Tenn., and Florence, editor of The Johnsonian, Winthrop student weekly; last year: Mary Breeland, editor of Hi-Times, Aiken high school; Nancy Chapman of Joanna, editor of The Johnsonian the first semester of this year; and Dot Brandon, member of the staff of The Loudspeaker, Fort Mill high school. Nancy Chapman will present the trophies in the Story-of-the-Month contest.

South Carolina Scholastic Press Association Stimulates Journalistic Interest In Schools

By BETSY ROSS

Stated in the Carolina Editor by Nancy Kendall, former editor of The Johnsonian, the South Carolina Press Association is "an organization which endeavors to promote interest in student publications, to maintain and improve standards, and to foster a closer relationship among those engaged in this field."

Planned in 1935 by Fred C. Kendrick, then editor of the Greenville High News, and Wayne Freeman, then editor of the News, the S.C.S.P.A., as the high school press association is commonly called, has progressed from a membership of 25 schools to a membership of 132 in 1950.

In 1947 contests were planned to create a greater interest in the S.C.S.P.A. The following is an excerpt from the September 24, 1947 edition of The Johnsonian: "The school having the largest number of points in all classifications will receive The Columbia State award, a silver loving cup which becomes the permanent property of the winner. Trophies will also be given to the paper having the largest number of points in each of the four classifications: editorial, news, sports, and feature."

Although the contest rules have been changed slightly, the actual competition is essentially the same. The competition is open to both printed and mimeographed high school and junior high school publications. There is a special division for junior high school papers. The publications are judged on news, features, editorials, sports, make-up, and advertising. From October through March, registered members submit each month their one best article in each of four divisions to be judged in the Story of the Month contest, sponsored by Winthrop college. News, sports, editorials, and features. Judging the entries are staff members of daily and weekly papers in North and South Carolina. The publication accumulating the largest number of points awarded the best entries in the Story of the Month contest receives a "sweepstakes award" at the annual S.C.S.P.A. convention. Individual cups are awarded to the publications receiving the largest number of points in each of the four main divisions: News, "All-State" certificates are presented to any paper maintaining an above-average standard through October to March.

Winthrop college also sponsors a photography contest; and, although this is not an official part of the S.C.S.P.A., it aids in stimulating interest in high school journalism.

From 1936 to the present year a member school has been host to the annual association convention. The only non-convention year was 1945 when war restrictions made the annual meetings impossible. In 1949 when Charleston was host, 500 school paper staff members attended. Attendance is now limited because of the large number wishing to attend.

At these conventions the students attend and forums to discuss the best ways to run a paper, hear prominent newspapermen speak on interesting journalistic topics, and discover in clinics and newspaper plants exactly how a big newspaper is published. The conventions are not without their social side as a dance and banquet is presented each year at the meeting.

The S.C.S.P.A. even has its own newspaper—The Carolina Editor, which is edited by Mr. Reid H. Montgomery, head of the journalism department at Winthrop college. The Carolina Editor is intended to familiarize members of the S.C.S.P.A. with each other.
